

NC INTEGRATED
CARE FOR KIDS

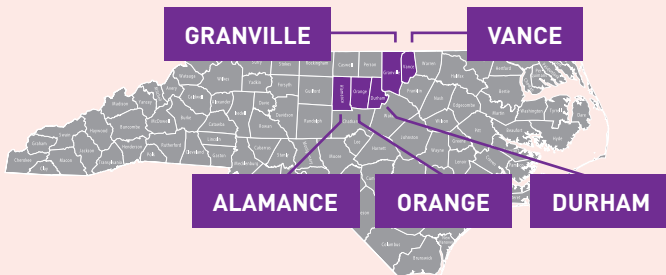

We Need You!

Join the NC Integrated Care for Kids (NC InCK) Youth Council

Become a Youth Council Leader with NC InCK!

- Do you want to help improve the lives of children, teens, and young adults in your community?
- Have you ever wished adults in your life knew more about what you REALLY need to succeed and be happy?
- Do you have friends who can't get to the doctor or don't have enough food to eat?

We're looking for 10 teen leaders* to help us create a new way of caring for youth and families in Alamance, Durham, Granville, Orange and Vance Counties!

 Council members should have Medicaid or Health Choice insurance and live in a NC InCK county (see map above).*

What is the NC InCK Youth Council?

Our Goal: Make sure that the voices of young people (like you!) are leading our work.

Who is on the Youth Council?

Teens and young adults (ages 13-20) who want to work with other leaders to make a difference in their communities.

How the Youth Council works:

The youth council will brainstorm creative ideas and serve as key advisers for NC InCK.

Benefits of Participation

- Develop leadership and advocacy skills
- Represent the voices of young people in your community
- Gain knowledge and experience in public health, healthcare, and a range of services for children
- Make meaningful connections with leaders in your community

What is NC InCK?

The NC InCK goal: Improve the health and well-being of youth and families insured by Medicaid or Health Choice by creating a new way to care for children and youth that brings together healthcare, schools, and other community organizations.

Who is involved in NC InCK:

Leaders from healthcare (UNC & Duke), communities, and the state government are teaming up with families and youth to do this exciting work.

Want to join?
